

Stakeholders Feedback Analysis

Academic Year 2021-22

JBR Architecture College strives to provide an optimal environment and learning experience to attain academic excellence and professional competency. Key stakeholders, including students, teachers, alumni, and employers, are pivotal in enhancing the quality of the learning process. As a result, the institution annually gathers feedback from all stakeholders' students, teachers, alumni, and employers regarding the institutional curriculum and ambience. This feedback is utilized to improve the quality of learning activities within the college, aiming to enhance the professional skills, employability, and entrepreneurial capabilities of the students.

Students Feedback

Students serve as crucial stakeholders, and their input holds significance as it keeps the college informed about their desires and requirements. This input is particularly valuable when crafting elective courses and additional offerings both curricular and co-curricular.

Student feedback is collected annually in even semester. Students are furnished with a feedback form to articulate their opinions. The recorded preferences are subsequently analyzed to generate the Feedback Analysis Report.

Alumni Feedback

Alumni serve as valuable resources, providing insights from a real-world perspective and illustrating expected competencies. They are regarded as essential stakeholders, and their feedback guides the college in syllabus revisions, inclusion of add-ons, career guidance programmes, and aligning the curriculum with industry needs.

Alumni feedback is collected during annual alumni meets, utilizing feedback forms to record their perspectives. The collected data is then processed to generate the Feedback Analysis Report.
